

Calls

FULBRIGHT/IFK_FELLOWSHIP

Fulbright/IFK_Senior Fellowships

Open to faculty of all academic ranks with a PhD and specialization in interdisciplinary and comparative research in cultural studies and humanities relevant to Viennese, Austrian and Central European traditions. Several years of teaching and excellent research experience in relevant fields is preferred.

For detailed information about Fulbright/IFK_Senior Fellowships please click here

For the Fulbright/IFK_Senior Fellowship Online Application please click here (deadline 15 September 2021)

Previous Senior Recipients (selection from the last three years)

2019-20

Paul Buchholz, Emory University, Atlanta

2018–19

Davide Stimilli, University of Colorado - Boulder

2017–18

Lisa Feurzeig, Grand Valley State University

Fulbright/IFK_Junior Fellowships

For PhD candidates in cultural studies/ humanities, whose field of specialization is thematically related to Austrian and Central European traditions or to the present IFK_research focus.

For detailed information about Fulbright/IFK_Junior Fellowships please click here

For the Fulbright/IFK_Junior Fellowship Online Application please click here (deadline 12 September 2021)

Previous Junior Recipients (selection from the last three years)

2019-20

Matthew Johnson, Department of Germanic Studies, University of Chicago

2018–19

Nathan Stobaugh, Department of Art & Archeology, Princeton University

2017–18

Thomas R. Prendegast, Modern European and Jewish History, Duke University