PROJECT TITLE

Utopian Fantasies of Urban Violence and Sexual Identity in Fin de Siècle Vienna and Berlin

PROJECT DESCRIPTION

This project explores the cultural, scientific, and popular fascination with sexuality and violence around 1900 in central European metropolises. The emergence of modern paradigms of sexual and gender identities, the emancipation movements associated with them, and fantasies of sexual violence all play a role in this investigation. The ground to be covered includes high as well as popular culture including literature, philosophy, sexology, criminology, and sensationalist literature and newspaper reportage.
